

Park(ing) Day in the Hub!

hub: a center around which other things revolve or from which they radiate; a focus of activity, authority, commerce, transportation, etc.

Join Councilor Kirsten L. Hughes, Mayor Thomas Koch, the Quincy Chamber of Commerce, and the Planning and Community Development Department as we participate for our second time in worldwide annual PARK(ing) Day.

This year's theme, Re(Cycle) Park, will center upon Hancock Street as the Hub of the New Quincy Center and highlight recycling and the City's Bicycle and Pedestrian Network Plan by featuring interactive games and way-finding directions for the myriad people, places and things that one can easily access by bike or on foot in Quincy.

For just ONE DAY come and hang out at the two parking spaces at 1468-1476 Hancock Street (in front of Alba Restaurant) in Quincy Center and share what your community means to you!

FRIDAY September 19th, 2015
7a.m. - 4p.m.

City of Quincy, Massachusetts
Mayor Thomas P. Koch

Original PARK(ing) Day concept
by Rebar. www.rebargroup.org

